

Mayor Hogue, New Councilmembers Take Oath of Office; Stephens Named Mayor pro tem

Congratulations Mayor Eric Hogue and newly elected Councilmembers William Whitney III (Place 5) and David Dahl (Place 6). Outgoing and incoming members were honored with a reception in the lobby of the Wylie Municipal Complex. Following the reception and oaths of office, Keith Stephens was selected as your new mayor pro tem by a vote of the council during the May 20 meeting.

Extreme Drought Grips Lavon Lake

Landscape Watering Limited to Once Every Two Weeks Through October

The hot summer months are beginning with lake levels extremely low for this time of year. Lavon Lake, NTMWD's primary water supply, was 11.47 feet below the normal conservation level as of June 5, more than 4 feet lower than it was this time last year. The lake now stands at only 51.1% capacity compared to 67%. During the summer months, reservoirs can drop as much as 10 feet in elevation due to evaporation and increased usage. As the population continues to grow, so does the demand on the water supply.

NTMWD and the City of Wylie are urging customers to conserve water use; if hot weather and low rainfall trends continue, fines, higher water prices and even more severe restrictions may be necessary.

Go to WylieTexas.gov/Drought for a complete list of restrictions and links to lake level information and water saving tips. Download the GOREquest Android or Apple app, or call 972-442-7588, to report watering violations.
